Odashirogahara Marshland

Jokoji Temple

Okunikko Yumoto onsen

Between autumn and winter, Okunikko attracts visitors with its unique worldview. In Okunikko, I enjoy the sound of falling leaves stepping on, but when I breathe in the clear air, I feel the sign of winter almost there.

Kegon Falls

●Autumn Leaves Information

The larch in Odashirogahara marshland had already begun to scatter its leaves, and the morning dew was frozen. Snow was piled up at Yumoto onsen, but it melted with sunrise. If it gets cold in the morning and evening, we recommend change to snow tire just in case of car went into a skid.

In Okunikko, the season of Autumn Leaves has already over, but now the area where Nikko Toshogu Shrine is located is beautiful. The architecture and autumn leaves that have existed since ancient times in Japan will be fun for those who take photos.
