⑤ Leveraging the appeal of the community, the facilities are designed based on the innovative concept of "coexisting in harmony with the local community"

● Facilities designed using bricks associated with Fukaya City and promoting harmony with the rich natural local environment

Based on a concept of "coexisting in harmony with the local community", Fukaya-Hanazono Premium Outlets has been designed with the aim of creating an outlet mall that fits into the landscape of Fukaya and adds vibrancy to the community. The outlet mall boasts a total area of about 176,800 m² and is planned to provide an enjoyable shopping experience. It is made up of the Brick Field with a historic streetscape built using bricks associated with Fukaya City, the Forest Field designed based on an image of the rich natural landscape of Northwestern Saitama Prefecture and the 2-story Food Lodge with an exterior that is homage to the famous flowers grown in Fukaya City. Located between the two fields is the Center Court.

Also, the main canopy located in the Forest Field has been named the Lily Plaza given its motif of lily flowers for which Fukaya City is one of the few growing regions in Japan. Along with the Center Court, it is planned to use the plaza for events in partnership with the local community.

● Merchandise sales and restaurant menus using locally grown vegetables

Some of the restaurants are developing limited edition menus that use locally produced ingredients such as Fukaya leeks, and it is planned to offer menus that use locally grown fresh fruits and vegetables. Including the stores that will sell local specialty goods, efforts will be made to promote local consumption of local production. It will also be possible for visitors to casually enjoy and take home with them the appealing local foods and products.

● Becoming a new tourist attraction and source of information together with nearby attractions

In May of this year, the Fukaya Terrace Park that promotes the appeal of Fukaya City and Kewpie Corporation's hands-on Fukaya Terrace Vegetable Friends' Farm opened adjacent to the outlet mall. Fukaya-Hanazono Premium Outlets will soon open, too, and as a tourist attraction and source of local information, efforts will be made to invigorate the overall area together with these facilities.

⑥ Initiatives for sustainability – Using renewable energy for all electric power at the outlet mall facilities

With the aim of reducing the environmental burden, the Fukaya-Hanazono Premium Outlets will be the first Premium Outlets to use solar and other renewable energy for all of the electric power consumed at the facilities, including the tenant stores.

The approximately 8,000 MWh (estimated annual consumption) used by the tenant stores and common areas will be provided by the almost 440 solar panels installed in the outlet mall (estimated annual generation capacity of approximately 150 MWh) and the procurement of renewable energy through green energy certificates, thereby contributing to the reduction of CO₂ emissions.

Also, in addition to being an outdoor outlet mall, which has a lower environmental burden than indoor malls, the streets are designed to allow natural lighting and incorporate passages that promote air flow. These design features will help further reduce energy consumption.

【Hanazono IC Area Improvement Project】

The project is being implemented by Fukaya City with the aim of revitalizing the wide-area region through agriculture and tourism. Fukaya-Hanazono Premium Outlets is conveniently located about 1.5 km from the Hanazono Exit on the Kan-etsu Expressway and a short walk from the Fukaya-Hanazono Station on the Chichibu Railway. Northwestern Saitama Prefecture, which includes Fukaya City and the Chichibu region, is blessed with tourism resources including a rich natural environment and hot springs. As part of this project, the Fukaya Terrace Vegetable Friends' Farm operated by Kewpie Corporation and Fukaya City's Fukaya Terrace Park opened in May of this year.

【Fukaya Terrace Vegetable Friends' Farm】 <https://www.kewpie.co.jp/farm/>

At this multi-functional facility operated by Kewpie Corporation, it is possible to experience the appeal of vegetables. Based on a concept of "Learn to love vegetables at this farm that will bring joy to everyone!", visitors can harvest seasonally grown vegetables at the "hands-on farm", as well as purchase fresh and processed fruits and vegetables grown locally at the "marche" held there. In addition, vegetable experts will provide specific advice on when certain vegetables are at their optimum ripeness and how best to prepare them. The facility's appeal will also include a restaurant serving dishes using local ingredients and "vegetable classes" for seeing, touching and learning about vegetables through the five senses.
