Togoku mitauba tsutsuji (Rhododendron wadanum) at Lake Chuzenji

Azuma shakunage (Rhododendron degronianum) at Lake Yunoko

● Nature

On May 9th, it snowed near Konsei Road, but overall the weather was warmer and the season seems to be about 10 days to 2 weeks earlier than usual. It seems that the season is getting earlier and earlier every year.

Rhododendron degronianums are at their best at Lake Yunoko, but there are only a few flowering plants this year. Rhododendron wadanums have begun to bloom, and they have a good number of buds.

Along Route 120 near Shobugahama beach on the shores of Lake Chuzenji, the flowering of Japanese primroses has begun. Other spring flowers can also be seen.

● Information

Around 13:30 on May 11th, there was a report of sighting of a Asian black bear by Lake Yunoko. Please check the website of Nikko Yumoto Visitor Center for details of the report of sightings.
