Primula japonica at Senjugahama Beach

Lake Kirikomi and Lake Karikomi

Rhododendron japonicum in Yumoto Onsen

Cotton glass in Senjugahara Marshland

● Nature

Primula japonica has a high overall density and is at its peak around Senjugahama Beach.

In Yumoto area, the Rhododendron japonicum is at its best. It has also become conspicuous along the national road in Senjugahara Marshland.

Cotton grass ears have started to collapse, but they are widely distributed in Senjugahara Marshland and look good. The observation deck on the marshland is highly recommended, it takes only 20 minutes walk from Akanuma.

Lake Kirikomi and Lake Karikomi also have a little water and is divided into two lakes. Malus toringo still has buds, which will probably be at their best this weekend.

● Information

There were reports of low water levels at Kegon Falls, but the lake water of Lake Chuzenji has increased slightly. Regular route lake cruise will be available at Shobugahama beach from June 15th, but the Senjugahama route has been suspended for the current season.
