Grass leaves become more colorful (Odashirogahara Marshland)

Parnassia palustris (Senjogahara Marshland)

● Nature

It's not quite as cold, but the autumn leaves on the grass in Odashirogahara Marshland seem to have gotten a little darker.

In Senjogahara Marshland, only autumn flower such as Parnassia palustris remains. The bright red fruits of Viburnum opulus and Malus toringo stand out.

The back of Cervus nippon (buck) had become darker, and the buck that was reflected in the evening lights had withered horn. It seems that autumn is progressing in various ways.

Cervus nippon (Yumoto)
