Watch the Sun Rise Above Miyoshi's Sea of Fog

On misty mornings from late autumn to early spring, Miyoshi's mountains are transformed into a sea of fog. Popular among Hiroshima locals for sunrise photography!

Miyoshi City is in a basin surrounded by mountains, where three rivers meet, creating the conditions necessary for the thick fog to blanket the city. The observation deck on Mt. Takatani, about 15 minutes by car from central Miyoshi & the JR Miyoshi Station, is one of the most popular locations to see this phenomenon.

After the mist burns away, you are practically guaranteed to have a blue bird day, which you can spend walking the historic streets of Miyoshimachi, visiting the Miyoshi Mononoke Museum, or relaxing in a local café.

Miyoshi Mononoke Musuem

Visit the Miyoshi Mononoke Museum, Japan's first museum dedicated to yōkai, the mysterious supernatural beings of Japanese folklore. Explore immersive exhibits and more than 5,500 yōkai-related artifacts that bring centuries of legends and imagination to life. New to Miyoshi and want to learn more about the city and yōkai along the way? Listen to the Miyoshi City Walking Tour: Lanterns, Legends, and Landmarks audio guide as you walk from JR Miyoshi Station to the museum.

Miyoshi's Fruit Picking Farms

Autumn in Miyoshi means amazing fruit picking at two different farms! Hirata Fruit Picking Tourism Farm has fruit picking year-round at their main farm or in greenhouses. Autumn highlights include a wide selection of fruit, farm animals you can feed and pet, multiple BBQ areas and cafes. Fruits Land Funo is a fun and relaxing farm that opens in the Autumn months with an array of apple varieties to eat as you enjoy the wide-open autumn sky.

Ozekiyama Park & Old Railroad Station

The hillside park is a popular spot for checking out the autumn leaves. Below the park, the old JR Ozekiyama station opens for rail mountain bike rides along the railway through the tunnel that runs underneath the park. The bikes will
